

Pay in interest-free instalments using the available limit on your credit card.

Buy now.
Pay later.

No fees.
No interest.

No applications.
No credit checks.

How to Float

1. Enter the purchase amount, order number and your personal details
2. Choose your number of instalments
3. Enter your credit card details and Float it!

How it works

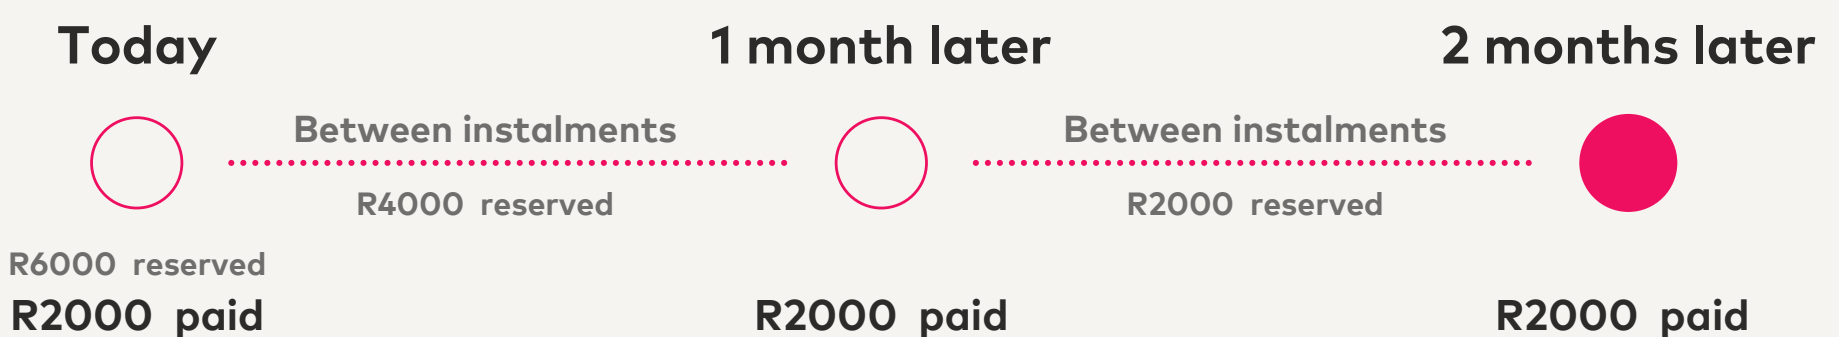

- At the time of purchase, Float temporarily "reserves" the full amount on your credit card, and charges you the first interest-free instalment.
- The remaining instalments are charged on the same day each month.
- In between each instalment, a new temporary "reserve" is placed for the outstanding balance, until your purchase is completely repaid.

What is a "reserve"?

- A reserve is a temporary hold against the credit you have available to spend on your credit card. It is not a charge and is completely interest-free.
- The reserved amount is generally released back into your account after 7 days, but can take longer, depending on your bank.
- This helps you to manage your cashflow and ensures you don't overspend on your card.

Need clarity? Here's an example.

R6000 purchase in 3 instalments using fl^oat

- ✓ You must own a South African issued VISA or Mastercard credit card (no debit cards)
- ✓ You must have the entire amount of your purchase available on your card

To learn more, please see the Shopper FAQs.